An Uneventful Day in Both

RESOLUTIONS PRESENTED

Change in the Inter-State Commerce Commission Likely-The Far West Must Wait.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9 .- Con munications were presented to the Senate from the Attorney General in response to resolutions of the Senate calling for information as to voting places the Com and as to election supervisors. The At-torney General states that his depart-ment has not the means of supplying the information asked.

There was also presented (by Mr. Cockrell) a petition from the Wage Workers Political Alliance of Washington, D. C., asking that no national bank stockholder shall be continued as a mem-ber of the Committee on Finance. The Farmers' Alliance sub-Treasury bills, which were last session referred to the Committee on Agriculture, were, at the request of the committee, transfer-red to the Committee on Finance as be-ing more properly within the jurisdic-tion of the latter committee.

The Senate bill appropriating $20,000 for the erection in the Smithsonian grounds fol a status to Robert Dale Owen, of Indiana, as the member of owen, of Indians, as the member of Congress who jutroduced the bill for the organization of the Smithsonian institution, and who was chairman of its etitution, and who was chairman of its first regents, was reported from the Library Committee and passed.

Mr. Plumb introduced a bill to reduce the amount of United States bonds to be required of National Banks and to replace their notes and to provide for the free coinage of silver. It was referred to the Finance Committee.

He also offered an amendment to a bill now on the calendar so that the matter can be brought before the Senate inter can be brought before the Senate inter can be brought before the Senate in-dependently of any report from the Finance Committee. In doing so he gave notice that if the elections bill were not dis-posed of at an early day he should move to lay it aside for the time being, in order that the bill just introduced by him and all other measures relating to the financial condition of the country should be considered. Something, he said, ought to be done.

Congress had on it a responsibility which, in his judgment, it could not avoid for any great period of time without letting go by a very great opportunity for helping the country and one which, in his judgment, would not occur again in a very great many years. It something is not done within the next something is not done within the next two or three weeks it might as well be postponed indefinitely.

Mr. McPherson offered a resolution which was agreed to, calling on the Sec-retary of Treasury for a certified copy of the accounts of John I. Davenport, the accounts of of Elections for the Southern district of New York, for the elections of 1884, 1886, and 1888, together with reports, correspondence, etc.

The resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, calling on the Attorney General for a statement on monies paid or called for by the Supervisor of the First and Second Congressional districts of Arkansas, in connection with the late election then were taken up and agreed to, after a statement by Mr. Jones that he had seen a para

The election bill was then taken up and Mr. Berry addressed the Senate in opposition to it. He said this bill was brought forward to disturb harmony and to inflict an injury on business reli tions. He cited an instance of the bad effects of such measures, attacked John McClure, Chief Supervisors of Elections in Arkansas, and said that in the elec-tion of 1872, the votes of whole counties were thrown out and hundreds of names crased from the registration books without notice to the voters. It was known, and not denied, that John McClure had

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9 .- It is not likely that there will be a change in the peronnel of the Inter-State Commerce commission very soon. It is more than robable that Commissioner Schoonnaker, of New York, will be reap maker, of New York, will be reappointed when his term expires on the first of next January. Two members of the Commission are so much indisposed that they cannot attend to their official daties at this time, and it is believed by many who have visited the Commission that it would not be wise to replace Mr. Schoonmaker for an inexperienced man. Messrs. Coolidge, of Michigan, and Bragg, of Alabama, have not been on duty for some time. The demand being made by the far West for a place upon the Commission, it is thought by those

The matter of the admission of Mr. Sanial, representing the New York Labor Federation, into the convention as an accredited delegate is the principal subject of interest among the delegates. The opinion of nearly all seems to be that Sanial should not be seated.

A long line of resolutions was also referred, among them a resolution to take the telegraphs out of the hands of monopolists and place them in the hands of the Government. This resolution was applauded, as also one to hold a World's Labor Congress in Chicago in 1893. A peculiar resolution, looking to the defence of the members of the unions in the Federation from the aggressions of the Knights of Labor created sympathetic amusement. Other similar resolutions followed showing a decided antagonism between the two grand divisions of labor, especially in New York city. All were referred.

A sharp resolution looking to opposition to police aggressions, especially the decision was that its publication would criminate the publisher. The Democrate published not only its experience with the Postoffice Department, but also the objectionable list. Hence the action of he grand jury.

net yesterday afternoon to continue the East Wheeling and the Eighth ward, and also to take up the proposal to give the Baltimore & Ohio Company a route along the creek in exchange for its tracks now on Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets.

The proposed route for the B, & O. as a surveyed by the City Engineer proposes that that company's main tracks shall cross the Terminal Company's main tracks at grade at two points, each being mear a switch, and shall also cross at grade three of the tracks in the Terminal Company's proposed extensive yards, where the making up of freight and passenger trains and shifting of cars will have to be done.

Messrs. Farrell, Arkle, Brandiass, Faris, Hamilton, Handlan and Kenney, of the Committee on Railroads, were present yesterday, only Mr. Tracy being absent. President R. H. Cochran, Eogineer Gil Brown and Attorney W. P. rade three of the tracks in the Termina

Mr. Farrell called the meeting to order and said the business in order was to take a vote on the TERMINAL RAILWAY ORDINANCE.

Mr. Brandfass thought the first thing to do was to hear the proposition to the B. & O. company.

Mr. Farrell—Make a motion.

Mr. Brandfass moved that views be heard on the B. & O. proposition.

not at this time prepared to make this as A DEFINITE PROPOSAL, any more than he was to bind his company to its adoption. He engrested that the committee get the affirmative action of the City Council, authorizing it to offer this as a definite thing, so that the company could take action upon it. If the plans could be loaned to him he would put them in the hands of the company's chief engineer that he might go over the ground and ascertain for himself the practicability of the plan. He would also be glad to have a subcommittee aponinted to yisit Baltimore committee appointed to visit Baltimore and confer with the President and mem-bers of the Board of Directors of the Baltimere & Chio Company, and it would give him pleasure to put a special car at the disposal of the committee at

Company had never done anything for the eity except from a selfish motive, and without a guarantee that something will be done, it looks as if this were but another scheme to block the Terminal road,

Mr. Hamilton thought as many people were interested in getting the B. & O. on the wall on the creek and build a creek as in the Terminal road. olans. Mr. Faris said the way to get the B. &

O. off those streets was to give the Ter-minal Company the facilities to make its system complete. The B. & O. was using its tracks on Sixteenth and on seventeenth streets at a loss. It would quit that just as soon as the Terminal facilities would allow.

Mr. Handlan thought not. The B. & O. had too valuable a freight yard to bandon those tracks unless it got something for it.

Mr. Brandfass said Mr. Faris had thrown cold water on this project from the first. He did not know that he was interested in any railroad galente, but he showed a decided interest of some Mr. Faris I don't know but what

The pending business was the vote on

RECOMMENDING IT TO COUNCIL. Mr. Brandfass thought further action ought to be deferred till there was something final in the negotiations with the B. & O. If the B. & O. could not be located early at the state of the arch be all the state of cated south of the creek, he did not se cated south of the creek, he did, not see any reason why the Terminal company should not get all it wants.

Mr. W. P. Hubbard, representing the Terminal Company said this committee had done none of the things Council instructed it to; do. If the B. & O wanted to do anything it would have somebody here authorized to do it. When a committee has been appointed to ascertain what the B. & O. will do, that company coolly comes here and sake to ascertain what the B. & O. will do, that company coolly comes here and saks that another committee be sent to Baltimore and find out. He asked that the Terminal ordinance be reported back to Council, so that if that body desired to pass it, it would not be prevented by the ordinance being locked up in the committee.

Mr. Branfifass objected to being lecrawn up in accordance with the comnittee's expressions the night before

The time for the completion of the work was extended from four to five years by a new section, which also provided for delays on account of litigation not reasonably to be avoided. It was amended so as to give the city the right to supervise track-laying in streets or dleys.

Another amendment reserved the right to build an overhead bridge across the tracks and buildings on Chapline Street.

Mr. Handlan wanted to limit the height of any building to be put across Chapline street to twenty feet. Mr. Brandfass thought twenty feet not enough room. Engineer Brown, of the Terminal Company, thought twenty-five feet would be sufficient, and this was agreed to. City Solicitor White undertook to suggest a possible evasion by putting platforms on a trestle.

Mr. Brown-We would not build platforms on trestles to climb in the car windows, you know.

A LITTLE PARLEY was necessary on this idea that the com pany might run all its trains up on a trestle and then run them down again. This difficulty out of the way, Mr. Arkle moved that the ordinance be reported to Council with the recommendation that it be passed. The vote on this motion resulted four to three, the motion being rejected. Messra, Farris, Fer-rell and Arkle voted aye and Messrs. Brandfass, Hamilton, Handland and Kenney no.

Mr. Hubbard asked that the ordinance be reported, that Council could evercise its discretion.

Judge Cochran said: "I say frankly to Council and everyone that if the Baltimore & Ohio is given the right of way proposed we cannot construct the work on the south bank of the creek. The Baltimore & Ohio route crosses our the north bank of the creek and build a Union depot, that we have begun work on the wall on the other side of the creek near Whitaker's mill, and are building a pier upon that wall for our bridge. Also piers in the creek have been commenced." He complained that the B. & O. line would cut their that the B. & O. line would cut their yards in two at the switch ends and hinder all possibility of making up trains. 'The Terminal Company proposes to lay four passenger tracks, two incoming and two outgoing, and two other tracks to get to the freight sheds, "I say with all candor and all frankness that if you are relying upon any hope that we will ever be reconciled to the B. & O. crossing us in that way, you are relying upon a hope that will never be

Dr. Campbell spoke in favor of going alow, because it is the last franchise the city will have to give away.
